

Liz Peace, Senior Project Manager, Brownfields

Liz Peace is a Senior Project Manager for CH2M HILL's Environmental Services group. Over the past 13 years, Liz has focused on project management for complex sites requiring the integration of remediation and redevelopment. Liz leads large integrated land redevelopment programs, including remediation, industrial site (brownfield) closures, compressed schedule and complex stakeholder driven remediation projects in both the US and Canada. Liz is currently the Strategy Leader for an integrated site decommissioning, remediation, and redevelopment program at a former chemical manufacturing facility in Southwestern Ontario. Closure of the site includes working closely with the both the vendor and purchaser of the land to aid in the transfer of the property. The solutions Liz applies to the integrated site closure projects comprise in situ soil and groundwater treatment, integrating demolition and remediation activities, planning site characterization investigations, applying recommendations generated by risk assessment, and conducting feasibility studies to select, design, and implement the most appropriate remedial technology.
